

Open Fields	The Type of Habitat that Barn Owls prefer
Owls are known for	Their ability to find prey at night and under snow
Nocturnal	Come out and hunts food at night
Parliament	A Group of Owls
The facial disk of an Owl	Helps the Owl to hear sound waves better
The Niche of an Owl in an ecosystem is	To be the Predator
Hearing and sight	Are the two senses Owls use to find and catch prey
Owls are found	in all continents except Antarctica
The arrows in food web or chain always	Point to the organism that is eating
If mice are considered a primary consumer, THEN owls are considered a	Secondary Consumer

Once an Owl catches a prey, he will	Swallow the prey whole
The bones, fur or feathers from an owl's prey will	Form into an Owl Pellet
The Owl Pellet leaves the owl through	Its mouth
The Owl pellet is similar to a	Cat's fur ball
The ears of an Owl are located	behind the eyes
An Owl can turn his head	270 degrees and nearly upside down
Owls like to eat...	mice, voles, snakes, and birds
Owls have eyes that can	See in the dark like cats
Once an Owl finds a mate they will	Mate for life
An Owl can hear another owl	Over 4 km away