

The adopted son /nephew of Julius Caesar who co-ruled with Marc Antony after Julius Caesar was stabbed to death	Caesar Augustus / Octavian
The City of Rome was named after the mythical twin boys	Romulus and Remus
The famous Greek Conqueror that captured all the known world at the time and upon his death his generals divided his kingdom into 12 parts, one being Ptolemy who ruled Egypt	Alexander the Great
The general under Julius Caesar who called Pharaoh Ptolemy from Egypt a gorrilla	General Cicero
The General who was faithful to Julius Caesar and became co-ruler of Rome after Caesar's death and eventually fell in love with Cleopatra and married her	Marc Antony
The LAST Pharaoh of Egypt who was a Greek descendant of the Greek general Ptolemy and fell in love and married Marc Antony	Cleopatra VII
The Roman Emperor that had a wall built in the northern part of the empire to help control the Roman borders	Emperor Hadrian
The Roman Emperor who hated Christians and had Christians executed and throw to the lions	Nero
The Roman Empire finally fell in	476 AD
The Roman Empire was a polytheistic empire until this Emperor who became a Christian and later declared Christianity as the official religion	Constantine

The Roman General who declared himself the dictator of Rome and refused to leave his soldiers in Gaul/France when told by the Senate to return alone, then the senate later stabbed him to death	Julius Caesar
The Romans were _____ by adopting the gods and goddesses of Greece and gave them different names except Apollo	Polytheistic
Rome was a first a Kingdom for 200 years then became a	Republic for 200 more years
The ruthless General from Africa who attacked and tried to control Rome	Hannibal
The Soldier from Troy who traveled to the area of Rome, Italy and his descendants became the Roman People	Aeneas
This Roman farmer was elected by the people to rule as a Consul until the Empire was back in order, then he gave up his office to go back to his farm	Cincinnatus